“Terrorism and Mass Media”
June 11 – 15, 2007
9:00 am – 4:00 pm at 1100 University Capitol Centre

Description:

This week long workshop offered to K-12 educators by UI International Programs and the Center for Credit Programs will address the way in which contemporary mass media portrays the terrorist and terrorism. There will be lectures and discussions, with topics such as: an introduction and historical background, media ethics, media literacy, and Islamophobia. Carefully selected readings and screenings will be used during the course. Guest speakers, such as scholars or professionals in relevant fields, and field trips may also be used to further enhance the discussions and lectures.

Instructor: Dr. Corey K. Creekmur

Dr. Corey K.
