BEFORE PRINTING OR POSTING

• Be sure to test and double check: website listings/hyperlinks, e-mail addresses, telephone numbers, and room locations/dates/times (for events).

CAPITALIZATION CLUES

• Academic sessions – Remember lowercase text: fall semester, winter session, spring semester, eight week summer session. When addressing a particular semester, use “…spring 2022 semester…”
• Headlines – For titles of articles (e.g., Accents pieces), use all lowercase words with the exception of the first word and proper nouns.
• Job titles – Don’t capitalize job titles unless they stand alone in an address block or immediately precede someone’s name (so, you would capitalize “Professor Adrien Wing,” but not “Adrien Wing, professor…”).
• Subject areas – Don’t capitalize unless they are the full name of the department (ex: “the Department of History” as opposed to “history” as a subject area).
• The – Don’t capitalize the word “the” when preceding the name of a university or department.

IN PERSON VS. IN-PERSON

• In-person as an adjective that is modifying a noun – in-person dining; he had an in-person interview.
• In-person as an adverb – You must apply in person for the license.

NUMBER KNOW-HOWS

• Spell out numbers nine and under; use figures for numbers 10 and above. Exceptions: use numbers for percentages and ages (ex: 3 percent).
• When you’re talking about the time of day, use 3 p.m. (with periods) – not 3 pm or 3PM.

STYLE GUIDE

• Academic degrees – When writing about UI alumni, state which degree the person earned (with major if applicable) and the year they received it. Ex: “Smith earned a Bachelor of Arts in political science in 2007, then enrolled in law school.” Another format example: “Samuel Smith (BA political science ’07) was named editor...” Also, remember: it’s “PhD,” not “Ph.D.”
• Accessibility – Use “accessible entrance” rather than “handicapped accessible” or “handicapped entrance.”
• Board of Regents – When first mentioned, use “Board of Regents, State of Iowa.” When mentioned again in the same piece, use “Iowa Board of Regents,” “Board of Regents,” or “Regents.”
• Web reference – We use “web page” (two words) and “website” (one word).
PUNCTUATION POINTERS

• Comma usage for locations – When referencing a location, include a comma after both the city and state (or city and country). Example: “Pareen interned in Madrid, Spain, where she learned...”

• Compound modifiers – Two words connected by a hyphen that act as one adjective (e.g., quick-witted person; dust-covered books).
  • Exception: do not use a hyphen after an adverb ending in “ly” in compound constructions (e.g., globally-related content is incorrect; should be globally related content).
  • Exception: do not use a hyphen in a compound modifier when the meaning is clear (e.g., high school student; health care provider).

• Decades – Use 1960s, as opposed to 1960’s (no apostrophe).

• Event titles –
  • Awards: Write out awards without quotes or italics (similar to how IowaNow did this piece, https://now.uiowa.edu/2022/10/ui-honors-30-faculty-and-staff-award-winners).
  • Conferences: Roman, no quotes (e.g., Teaching Anne Frank conference funded by a Provost’s Global Forum award).
  • Lecture series: Roman, no quotes (e.g., Global Alumni Spotlight Series).
  • Lectures, individual: Roman, in quotes (e.g., use for individual WorldCanvass programs such as “Translation and Global Literacy”).
  • Project titles: Write out project titles with quotation marks (e.g., “Reporting Marginality: News Media Representations of Poverty in Nigeria” – used for Stanley Awards for International Research project titles, for example).
  • Speeches, individual: Roman, in quotes (e.g., His talk, “Combatting Nationalism: Why the World Needs More Internationalization,” will take place on...).

• Quotation marks – Always place commas and/or periods within quotation marks; use single quotation marks to denote a quote within a quote (otherwise use double quotation marks).

RESOURCES

• The UI Editorial Style Guide is available here, https://brand.uiowa.edu/messaging.
• UI-branded templates are available here, https://brand.uiowa.edu/ (click on “Templates” to see menu).

WHERE ARE WE LOCATED?

• We are the “University Capitol Centre,” not the “Old Capitol Mall.”