Study Abroad is hosting a series of information sessions about study abroad in geographical locations around the world. Learn the basics about study abroad at the University of Iowa. Come find out what types of programs are offered in each area around the world!