

Individuals with disabilities are encouraged to attend all University of Iowa sponsored events. If you are a person with a disability who requires a reasonable accommodation in order to participate in this program, please contact James Giblin in advance at 355-2288.

WRITING THE HISTORY OF A NATIONALIST/'TRAITOR':

OSCAR KAMBONA

AND THE PERILS OF AFRICAN POLITICAL BIOGRAPHY

APRIL 22, 2013
4-5:30PM • UCC 2390

PROFESSOR JAMES R. BRENNAN

Assistant Professor in the Department of History,
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

In his 25 years of exile, controversial African politician Oscar Kambona was widely considered a traitor within Tanzania, yet also stood as the leading opposition figure among an identifiable minority of citizens disaffected with Tanzania's President Julius Nyerere. This talk seeks to dispel layers of misinformation about Kambona's life and show what the political stakes of his biography are in Tanzania today.

HTTP://INTERNATIONAL.UIOWA.EDU/AFRICAN-STUDIES