MICHAEL UGARTE

Michael Ugarte is Middlebush Professor of Romance Languages at the University of Missouri. His publications include Madrid 1900: The Capital as Cradle of Culture and Shifting Ground: Spanish Civil War Exile Literature.

Sponsored by the European Studies Group in International Programs

By focusing on the geographical, emotional, and intellectual dynamics of human movements between Africa and Europe, Ugarte offers an inroad to “the consciousness of an age” and an understanding of the global realities that will define the cultural, economic, and political currents of the twenty-first century.
