

A student graduating with our major in International Studies:

1. Analyzes and synthesizes information on world geography and global conditions, using primary and secondary sources.
2. Evaluates how historical forces have shaped current global conditions, issues, and debates.
3. Demonstrates critical analytical skills and writing ability.
4. Interprets and critically analyzes issues and situations from more than one cultural perspective and more than one disciplinary perspective.
5. Enhances learning in academic areas using a language other than the student's native language.